WILLARD'S CONTRIBUTION.

Joseph E. Willard, of Fairfax county, who is so well known in Alexandria, is the largest contributor in Virginia to the Wilson and Marshall campaign fund, he having subscribed the sum of $2,000 and, by his help, the eighth congressional district leads all the other districts in the state in the amount of its subscription. Mr. Willard's gift, in itself, does not represent any great sacrifice on his part as he is a very wealthy man and some small contributor in this city probably feels the amount of his mite much more than Mr. Willard. On the other hand it shows his interest in the party and again calls attention to the fact that he is always willing to do his part when the raising of funds for Democratic purposes are concerned.

Several papers throughout the State have commented on Mr. Willard's contribution and the Roanoke Times, in discussing the subject says that Mr. Willard has not been particularly well treated by the Democrats of the state. Many Alexandrians hold a similar opinion. He was an unexceptionable and capable Lieutenant Governor. He asked nothing of the state but the privilege and honor of serving it. Certainly he had nothing to gain in the money way. He has money plenty. Probably he would have spent five or six times as much as Governor as his salary would have amounted to. Yet, we saw fit to beat him and elect Swanson—a fine Governor. And Willard, like the true sport he is, never opened his mouth or murmured or said anything about the "ring" or "machine" or made any disturbance. He took his medicine like a man and a sportsman. Now, seeing that the general mass of Democrats in the State of Virginia were not coming up very well toward their $25,000 assessment for the Wilson campaign fund, he comes forward and plunks down $2,000 to help out. This, with the $1,000 which Henry Stuart guarantees from the ninth district, and a large part of which he will probably have to pay himself, with what outlying odds and ends we have from newspapers and other sources, may make up the State's assessed quota of $25,000 for the Wilson campaign fund. It is a pitiful showing for the voters. If we had not a few rich men we would be shamefully short. It is the trouble with us of the commonality. We talk big, but when it comes to giving something we fall down, and when it comes to voting we let the first stealer who comes to our homes or meets us on the street or at the polls direct our voting. We talk big, but we will not give a dollar of our money to help anybody to be elected; nor will we give an hour of our thought to any issue that may be presented before us. We prefer to give other people the privilege of thinking and giving for us.

JUDGE THORNTON'S ILLNESS.

We are glad to know that Judge Thornton, of the Circuit Court, of Alexandria City and county has recovered from his recent illness and will be able to preside in his court next Monday. Speaking of his illness the Commonwealth of Alexandria county says: "The best example we have ever seen of a man attempting in the face of great odds to do his duty was that evidenced last Tuesday by the respected Judge of this court. For the past year he has not been a well man, yet he has, at all times, even contrary to his doctors orders, attempted to sit upon the bench. Monday night, following an extremely arduous day in the court room, a severe attack overcame him, but feeling better in the morning, he went to the court room again, against the wishes of his doctor, and the advice of his friends, and insisted that the cases before him should be tried. After taking his seat on the bench he was seized with another attack and after recovering somewhat from this, he again asserted that he was able to go ahead with his work, but this he was not allowed to do. Such is the example of the man who tries to do his duty but he owes a still greater duty to his friends, and they are many and that is to think of his health and this we hope and trust that he will do. We hope and suggest as well that he take a long rest from his duties of Judge and thus prolong the life of this respected jurist."

Nolle Pros. Entered.

The case of the Commonwealth against a man named Fisher, who had been charged with burning his house near Arlington, Alexandria county several months ago, will not be called in the Circuit Court of the county, as had been contemplated, Commonwealth's Attorney Mackey having entered a nolle pros. Mr. Mackey informed the court that there are certain circumstances in the case which have caused him to pursue this course. Fisher's house, it will be remembered, was destroyed by a fire of mysterious origin, his family having had a narrow escape from being burned alive, and the circumstances in connection with the conflagration later led the authorities to suspect it was set on fire by the owner and a charge to that effect was subsequently brought against him.

Lascar Sailors From India Say Stench of Cargo Was Unbearable, So They Quit

New York.—The picturesque Lascar sailors, clad in outlandish costumes, such as is commonly supposed to be the garb of pirates, are taken before Magistrate McFurland of the night court and sentenced to 30 days each on the charge of attempting to desert the British oil steamer Indra, which is lying at Point Breeze. Captain Grann, master of the vessel, and Chief officer Kennedy appeared against them, declaring the men started a row because they were refused shore leave. Mohan Ali, the only one of the ten who could speak English, was spokesman for his companions. He defended their action, saying that the captain ordered them to remain in the fore-castle, where the stench of oil was so intolerable that they could hardly breathe.

Arraigned in the dock, the prisoners presented a novelty in the night court, so different were they from the usual types of prisoners. Most of them wore vivid colored handkerchiefs on their heads; some were garbed in wide trousers which extended only to the knees, and others were half naked. One man wore a yellow turban.

According to the testimony, the men were shipped in India, signing papers which stipulated that they were not to have any shore leave unless upon express permission of the captain. All said that the men had been deceived when these papers were signed, as they understood at the time that they were to be permitted ashore at all ports.

After completing their work yesterday the men demanded shore leave for the evening. The captain refused, and the Lascars threatened to desert. There was a wrangle on the deck, and one of the men jumped to the wharf, calling upon the others to follow him.

Meanwhile the captain sent word to the seventeenth district police station, and before the men could follow their leader Sergeant Duffy, with a detail of policemen, was on the scene and arrested them all. According to the police, the men submitted to arrest peacefully. The magistrate said that he had no option but to sentence the men, as their act had been plainly illegal, in view of the papers they had signed.
